

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Too many details!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about common health problems.
- I can talk about what was happening when something else happened.
- I can explain my opinion.

Ask your partner:

- What do you like or dislike about going to a doctor?
- Have you ever had a bad experience with a doctor? What happened?

Let's Explore!

Let's read about Dr. Plummet. What was he always doing?

* You use the Past Continuous tense to talk about a continuous action in the past.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Dr. Plummet was always providing details to his patients so they would not pass out during a procedure, or throw up at the sight of a needle. Gary Pike's mother brought him in. She said "Doctor, Gary was playing outside when his face suddenly swelled up like a balloon. It's looking better now, but I was thinking we should come for a check-up anyway."

The doctor said, "Gary, my personal view is that you need to have a blood test. I'm going to use this needle." The doctor held up the needle for Gary to see.

"I'm going to prick your finger with this. It's going to make a small cut in your finger. It might hurt a little bit, but not too much. Then I'm going to squeeze the blood out of the cut. That might scare you, but in my experience, no one ever gets too scared." Gary was sitting quite calmly. "I'm going to put the blood I take out of your finger right here in this tube and send it to the laboratory. They're going to look at your blood, and I bet they will tell me that you're very healthy."

The doctor smiled and Gary was smiling back. The doctor was feeling confident that he had a heroic child in front of him. He asked, "You're not going to cry or make a fuss, are you?" "No," Gary answered. "I'm not even going to be here," Gary said, and he disappeared out of sight.

Let's Practice!

Dr. Plummet expresses his opinion professionally.

Instructions: Read the statements. Select the correct answer.

Which of these expressions is similar in meaning to the expressions in italics in each of the following statements?

1. "Gary, my personal view is that you need to have a blood test."
___ In my view, you need to have a blood test.
___ Any doctor would recommend you to have a blood test.
___ You know you need to have a blood test.
2. "That may scare you, but, in my experience, no one ever gets too scared".
___ It is true that no one ever gets too scared.
___ We don't know if anyone has ever gotten too scared.
___ What I think is that no one ever gets too scared.
3. "They're going to look at your blood, and I bet they will tell me that you're very healthy."
___ Knowing the doctors here, they will tell me that you're very healthy.
___ In my view, they will tell me that you're very healthy.
___ Shortly, they will tell me that you're very healthy.

Let's Practice!

Gary turned* out to be more than a brave kid.

*"To turn out" means to have a particular or surprising result.

Instructions: Complete the text with the words provided.

swelled up / was always providing / was sitting / was playing outside / he had /
was feeling / was thinking / said

1. Dr. Plummet _____ details to his parents so they would not pass out during a procedure.
2. She _____, "Doctor, Gary _____ when his face suddenly _____ like a balloon.
3. It's looking better now, but _____ we should come for a check-up anyway."
4. Gary _____ quite calmly. "I'm going to put the blood I take out of your finger right here in this tube."
5. The doctor _____ confident that _____ a heroic child in front of him.

Extension Activity

I talk and write about a time I was sick.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Find a partner and talk about a time you got very sick.
- Describe the symptoms of your illness.
- Describe what was happening during the time you were sick.
- Explain how you recovered from being sick.
- Write a 100 to 150 word story about the illness.
- Read your story aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about common health problems.

☐ ☐

I talk about what was happening when something else happened.

☐ ☐

I explain how I recovered.

☐ ☐

I write about a common health problem.

☐ ☐

I read my story.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- needle (noun): a very thin sharp metal tube with which medicine is put into your body, or blood is taken out e.g. Some people throw up at the sight of a needle.
- to prick (verb): to make a small hole in something using something sharp e.g. I'm going to prick your finger with this needle.
- to squeeze (verb): to press something with your hands or fingers firmly Example: I'm going to squeeze blood out of the cut.
- tube (noun): a hollow, rounded, narrow piece of glass, metal, etc., used for carrying liquids or gases e.g. I'll put the blood I take out of your finger in this tube.
- heroic (adjective): brave and determined in the face of difficult situations
e.g. He thought he had a heroic child in front of him.
- to make a fuss (expression): to complain or become enraged about something, especially when it is not necessary
Example: You're not going to cry or make a fuss, are you?

Learning Points

The Simple Past and The Past Continuous Tenses

You often use the Simple Past and the Past Continuous tenses together.

You can use the Past Continuous tense to refer to the context of a story. It talks about the 'background' action, or the longer action. You use it to talk about an action that was in progress in the past.

*I was just reading the latest edition of Mystery Magazine.
While they were staying in room 609 ...*

You can use the Simple Past tense to refer to a shorter action that happened in the middle of, or interrupted, the longer action.

*A mother and daughter died in a fire ...
The owner told people they were there.*

Examples:

- Dr. Plummet was always providing details to his patients.
- She said "Doctor, Gary was playing outside when his face suddenly swelled up like a balloon."
- Gary was sitting quite calmly.
- The doctor was feeling confident that he had a heroic child in front of him.

Inseparable Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs are two-part verbs consisting of a verb followed by an adverb particle (these look like prepositions, but do not have the same function in phrasal verbs).

In some cases, it is not possible to separate the verb and the particle. These are called inseparable phrasal verbs.

It is important to remember that the meaning of a phrasal verb is often very different from the two parts taken separately.

For example:

Matt turned up last night (= appeared, not the same as turned + up).

To turn up is an inseparable phrasal verb. You cannot put an object between the verb and the particle. It must remain together.

Another example is to get off.

You can say "get off the bus", but you cannot say "get the bus off".

Learning Points

A few verbs can be used with both a particle and a preposition, making them three-part verbs.

For example:

to run away with (to leave with; to escape with)

to watch out for (to be careful for)

to back out of (to fail to keep a promise)

Learning phrasal verbs is a lot like learning new vocabulary. You must memorize which phrasal verbs are inseparable and learn their meanings.

Look at the chart for some more inseparable phrasal verbs and their meanings.

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
pass out	become unconscious
throw up	vomit
swell up	become larger than normal

Examples:

- Dr. Plummet was always providing details to his patients so they would not pass out during a procedure, or throw up at the sight of a needle.
- She said "Doctor, Gary was playing outside when his face suddenly swelled up like a balloon."

