

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What do you think is the most important quality in a doctor?
- Do you think doctors have to be kind? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about coincidences, strange events, superstitions, and sickness.
- I can talk about what was happening when something else happened.
- I can express possibility and certainty.

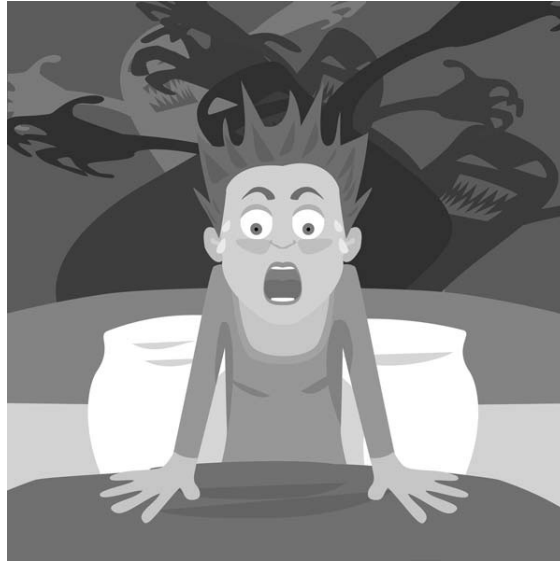

Let's Explore!

What do you think of the bedside manner of this doctor?

* "Bedside manner" is how the doctor acts towards their patient.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

I had the most terrible experience at the hospital a month ago. It had to do with my doctor's horrible bedside manner. I was hospitalized to undergo surgery on my hand. The anesthetic was wearing off and the pain was coming back. I had called out for the nurse in a hoarse voice, but no one heard me. I had tried to reach for the water, but it dropped to the floor. A custodian noticed and came to my aid.

She was cleaning up the water when my doctor finally came in to check up on me. He looked perplexed ... and out of the blue, he turned around and walked out of the room. He didn't even ask how I was! Suddenly, a bright light appeared over my bed and a ghostly figure was emanating from it. I had read up on this hospital and heard rumors that it was haunted, but I couldn't believe what I was seeing! The ghost had fangs, but it wasn't scary ... just bizarre.

She may have been a vampire ghost, or she might have been all in my head. To this day, I still don't know what really happened. The doctor returned and said "You look like you've seen a ghost! You must be feeling a little disoriented after the surgery. I could get the nurse".

That was the last I saw of my doctor! I won't put up with that kind of treatment again!

Let's Practice!

It's always fun to *brush up on phrasal verbs!

*"To brush up" means to review.

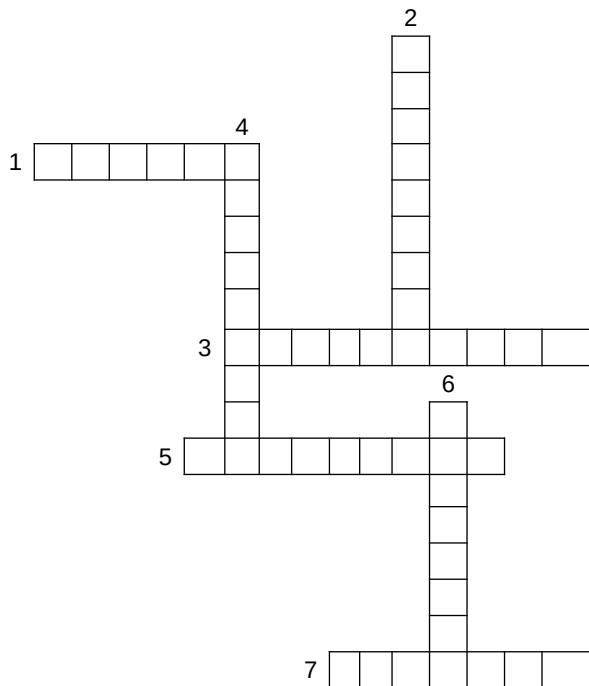

Instructions: Complete the crossword.

Down

2. When you are interested in something and you seek out for information about it, you _____ it.
4. When you can't tolerate the noise at a hospital, you can't _____ it.
6. When you return to a place you were at before, you _____.

Across

1. When your family come to see you at the hospital and you are expecting them, they _____.
3. When you are under the effect of an anesthetic and it gradually stops, you can say it is _____ing.
5. When a doctor or a nurse come into the room you are in to see how you are, they _____ you.
7. When you hope to find something, you _____ it.

Let's Practice!

She ended up traumatized.

Instructions: Complete the sentences with the correct words.

Word Bank

must be feeling / may have been / could get / might have been / might not be able

1. The ghost _____ a vampire ghost.
2. She _____ all in my head.
3. You _____ a little disorientated after the surgery.
4. "I _____ the nurse!", the doctor said.
5. She _____ to put up with any similar kind of treatment.

Extension Activity

Watch the movie Patch Adams.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Watch the movie Patch Adams with subtitles in English.
- Take notes on events and new vocabulary.
- Discuss what Patch was like as a doctor.
- Discuss what might have happened to some of the patients he treated if he had not been their doctor.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I watch the movie Patch Adams with subtitles in English.

☐ ☐

I take notes on new vocabulary.

☐ ☐

I discuss what Patch was like as a doctor.

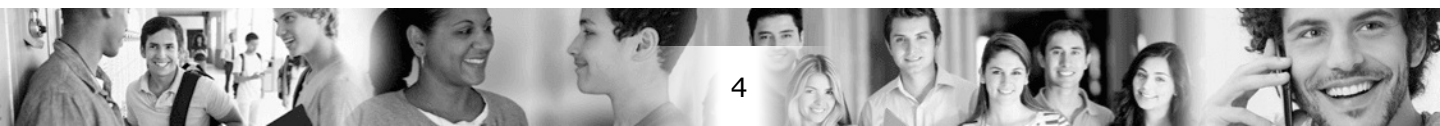

☐ ☐

I discuss what might have happened to the patients.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- bizarre (adjective): strange; very unusual e.g. He had also seen the bizarre light in the distance.
- anesthetic (noun): a drug that blocks the pain someone is feeling e.g. You must be confused from the anesthetic.
- custodian (noun): a person in charge of maintaining a property
e.g. The custodian here could clean up that broken glass on the floor.
- hoarse (adjective): having a rough and unclear voice
e.g. "Of course," the old man said in his soft hoarse voice.
- perplexed (adjective): confused and worried
e.g. The girl's story left me baffled and perplexed.
- haunted (adjective): inhabited or visited by ghosts
e.g. The hotel is said to be haunted.
- rumor (noun): a story that lacks solid basis and is unlikely to be true e.g. People have heard of rumors of a supernatural presence.
- out of the blue (expression): used to mean that something happens unexpectedly Example: I was walking to meet you and out of the blue I heard a dog barking.
- fangs (noun): the long pointed teeth that some animals have, for example snakes, dogs, and tigers e.g. Vampires have sharp fangs.
- to undergo (verb): to experience something that is unpleasant or involves a change
e.g. She'd been admitted to the hospital the day before, to undergo surgery on her knee.
- You look like you've seen a ghost (expression): used to mean someone looks scared or shocked e.g. Hi, Peter. Wow, you look like you've seen a ghost! Are you okay?

Learning Points

The Simple Past and The Past Continuous Tenses

You often use the Simple Past and the Past Continuous tenses together.

You can use the Past Continuous tense to refer to the context of a story. It talks about the 'background' action, or the longer action. You use it to talk about an action that was in progress in the past.

The anesthetic was wearing off and the pain was coming back.

You can use the Simple Past tense to refer to a shorter action that happened in the middle of, or interrupted, the longer action, or a finished action at a specific time in the past.

I had the most terrible experience at the hospital a month ago.

Examples:

- She was cleaning up the water when my doctor finally came in to check up on me.
- He looked perplexed ... and out of the blue, he turned around and walked out of the room.
- Suddenly, a bright light appeared over my bed and a ghostly figure was emanating from it.

Inseparable Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs are two-part verbs consisting of a verb followed by an adverb particle (these look like prepositions, but do not have the same function in phrasal verbs).

In some cases, it is not possible to separate the verb and the particle. These are called inseparable phrasal verbs.

It is important to remember that the meaning of a phrasal verb is often very different from the two parts taken separately.

For example:

Matt turned up last night (= appeared, not the same as turned + up).

To turn up is an inseparable phrasal verb. You cannot put an object between the verb and the particle. It must remain together.

Another example is to get off.

You can say "get off the bus", but you cannot say "get the bus off".

A few verbs can be used with both a particle and a preposition, making them three-part verbs.

Learning Points

For example:

to run away with (to leave with; to escape with)

to watch out for (to be careful for)

to back out of (to fail to keep a promise)

Learning phrasal verbs is a lot like learning new vocabulary. You must memorize which phrasal verbs are inseparable and learn their meanings.

Look at the chart for some more inseparable phrasal verbs and their meanings.

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
check up on	see how someone is
read up on	search information on
look for	find
put up with	tolerate

Examples:

- She was cleaning up the water when my doctor finally came in to check up on me.
- I had read up on this hospital and heard rumors that it was haunted, but I couldn't believe what I was seeing!
- I won't put up with that kind of treatment again!

